KEPOKAI MAKES DENIAL

CLAIMS THAT HE NEVER TOLD CARTER HE WOULD RESIGN AS TREASURER.

Treasurer A. N. Kepokai yesterday evening sent the following reply to the letter of Acting Governor Carter, published in The Star yesterday:

Territory of Hawaii,
Honolulu, November 18, 1931.
Hon. George R. Carter, Acting Governor of the Territory, Honolulu.
Sir:—Your second letter of this date is before me, wherein, in responding to my letter of declaration to resign the office of Treasurer of the Territory, you intimate that I have broken faith with you, and have broken my positive promise to you, in so declining to resign.

You are entirely in error in your statement that I at any time, much less on two occasions, made the statement to you "that it was my intention to withdraw and leave you free to select such heads of Departments as would work with you, and in whom you could repose every confidence."

Let me recall to your memory just what occurred upon the only occasion when the topic of resignations was discussed between us. I was then the first to inform you that Mr. Cooper had resigned his office as Superintendent of Public Works and I stated to you that Mr. Cooper had remarked to me that his reason for so resigning was to "give you a free hand." Upon asking you what was meant by that phrase, you remarked that you expected the resignations of all the heads of Departments. I replied to that suggestion as follows: "Well, if such is the practice, my resignation will be ready at the proper time."

Immediately thereafter I spoke with Governor Dole on the subject, who assured me that I was under no obligation to resign, as my official tenure was fixed by law, and he did not know what was the practice usually pursued in regard to resignations under such circumstances.

Upon further inquiry and study on my part, I am convinced that it has never been, and is not now, the practice in the United States for officials who hold their offices by a definite legal tenure, to resign those offices upon a change in the personnel of their superiors, or even of the Chief Executive of the Union, or of a State.

Let me cite two instances in support of this contention. When President Johnson undertook to oust Mr. Stanton from the position of Secretary of War, in 1867, his act was alleged as a basis for his impeachment, which soon followed.

In 1887, when Governor Washington Bartlett, of California, died, and was succeeded by Lt. Gov. Markham, there was no suggestion of resignations from any of the appointees of Governor Bartlett, other than his personal staff. And such has been and is the current of practice and precedent in America, in such cases.

I respectfully invite you to cite a single case wherein an executive State or Territorial officer has resigned the office held by him, to which he was appointed for a fixed period, and from which he could not be removed save with the concurrent action of the Chief Executive and some co-ordinate authority, upon the mere request of the successor of the official by whom he was appointed.

While admitting the practice of resignations being usually tendered by Cabinet officers, and others of like confidential relations to the Executive, upon a change in the executive office, yet this practice has never extended beyond the circle of officials holding at the pleasure of the executive, which I understand to be now the law in respect of Presidential Cabinet officers.

It has not escaped my attention that, almost before the ink was dry upon the cablegram announcing your prospective appointment as Governor, you were out in an interview wherein you in effect demanded the resignations of all heads of departments. The extreme imprudence of such a course, on your part, at so very early a stage of your anticipated incumbency of the executive chair, must now be as apparent to you as it is to all the rest of the community. There are many who look upon your premature and frequent interviews in this respect as nothing less than insulting to the incumbents of the offices referred to, and an impeachment of the judgment of the distinguished gentleman to whom they owe their appointment. And what ever may have been my views as to resigning my office upon the consummation of the change in question, your own most objectionable course in this regard would of itself have been sufficient to lead me to such a conclusion.

However much we may differ as to what is my right and duty in the premises, you may safely rely on my hearty co-operation with you in all matters calculated to promote the best interests of the people of this Territory, without regard to race, creed, color, or political affiliation.

Very respectfully yours,
A. N. KEPOKAI,
Treasurer of the Territory.

There will be a symbolic representation of "Autumn" a wine press about which are little maidens with wreaths and garlanded hair. This will be presided over by Miss Blanche Soper and Miss Vere Greenwell. The fair will be presided over by Miss Hartings and Mr. Rhodes. In all there will be about a dozen booths, each one of them representing a unique idea.

THE DRAMA

Walter Sanford's Company of players presented "My Jack" last evening at the Orpheum Theatre. This play proved to be one of absorbing interest. The comedy is blended with the serious element most happily, and caused a great succession of hearty laughs. The audience were as much interested in the love scenes of Mary Ibbotson and Pat Dolan, as in those of Dorothy and Jack. The plot of the play carries the spectator from England to Africa, and showed some beautiful scenery.

William Desmond played Jack effectively. Walter Sanford gave a finished performance of Sir Edward Vanberg. Griffith Wray presented a unique characterization as Cairo, the Greek. And Bart Wallace, Fred Wilson and Philip Walsh all did creditable work. Miss Ethelle Earle was commanding and forceful as the blind mother. Miss Laura Wall was lovable as the heroine, and Adelaide Smith and Tommy Shearer gained new admirers in their comedy scenes. "My Jack" will be repeated this evening.

Walter Johnson entertained with some funny sayings and songs between the acts.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Jack Meredith, Peter's adopted son... William Desmond
Sir Edward Vanberg, Baronet... Walter Sanford
Cairo Panizini, a vagabond Greek... Griffith Wray
Peter Meredith, an old, retired seaman... Bert W. Wallace
Charles Prescott, an escaped fugitive... Fred Wilson
Patrick Dolan, on H. M. gunboat... H. M. Gunboat
"Sea Gull" Captain Hereford, on H. M. gunboat... Philip Walsh
Lieut. Wesby on H. M. gunboat "Sea Gull"... G. W. Wells
Sergeant Barker of Scotland Yard... Old Vincent
Capt. Ferguson, of the 10th Scotch Infantry... Henry Andrews
Dan, a fisherman... W. H. Johnson
Mrs. Prescott, a blind widow... Ethelle Earle
Dorothy Prescott, her daughter... Laura Wall
Mary Ibbotson, landlady of "Bainbridge Arms" Adelaide Smith
Fishermen, Villagers, Sailors, Marines. The following is a synopsis of the play:

Act 1, Scene 1—The beach at Falmouth, Cornwall, England. Scene 2—Falmouth road. Scene 3—The ruined mill house. Elapse of three months between acts 1 and 2.

Act 2, Scene 1—Peter's cottage. Scene 2—A street near the docks. Scene 3—Deck of H. M. Gunboat "Sea Gull." Elapse of six months between Acts 2 and 3.

Act 3, Scene 1—Hereford's tent in the British Isles, Africa. Scene 2—The open desert. Elapse of three months between Acts 3 and 4.

Act 4, Scene—Interior of Mrs. Prescott's cottage.

DIED.

Hiram Bingham. She was born in Northampton, Mass., October 19, 1834, and was married to Rev. Hiram Bingham, the second of that name in connection with the evangelization of the Pacific Islands, November 18, 1856. They soon after sailed for Honolulu on the first missionary bark, Morning Star, and a little later went to Ponape and soon afterwards to Apia, where they arrived in November, 1857, and continued in missionary work among and for the Gilbertese for many years. Mrs. Bingham assisted her husband to translate the entire body of the scriptures into the Gilbertese tongue. Besides that she prepared school text books in the Gilbertese language and wrote and translated other books of entertainment and information for the same people. Her health utterly failing in the Gilbert Islands, Mrs. Bingham has resided in Honolulu with her husband for many years. She had two children, one of whom died in the Gilbert Islands in infancy. The other is Hiram Bingham, the third of that name in these islands, who is now an instructor in Harvard University. He was here on a visit to his parents last August. The funeral of Mrs. Bingham took place from the late residence yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted by the Rev. William Morris Kincaid. A quartette consisting of Mrs. Damon, Mrs. Hare, W. W. Hall and Theodore Richards sang "Dawn." "We Would See Jesus," and at the grave "Asleep in Jesus." The interment was in the Bingham plot in Kawaiahaue churchyard. The pallbearers were: Rev. H. B. Parker, F. Parker, A. F. Cooke, Dr. J. M. Whitney, Rev. O. P. Emerson and Dr. W. D. Alexander.

CORNWELL.—At his residence, Waiakapu, Maui, November 18, 1931, of heart disease, Col. William H. Cornwell. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1844 and came to Hawaii with his parents when about twelve years of age. His home had been in the Hawaiian Islands ever since. His life here had been continuously devoted to sugar planting earlier and cattle ranching later. He was a colonel on the staff of King Kalakaua and later on the staff of Queen Liliuokalani. He was chosen a member of the House of Nobles in 1890, and in 1892 and 1893 was twice minister of Finance of the Hawaiian Kingdom, but for a short time only each time. He was the member of the National Democratic Committee for Hawaii, at the time of his death. In 1870 he married Miss Blanche Macfarlane, who died about fifteen years ago. Three children of this marriage survive: W. H. Cornwell, Jr., Mrs. John S. Walker, and Mrs. A. A. Brayner. About a year ago Col. Cornwell married Mrs. Josephine Colvill, who survives him. Two sisters, Mrs. Widdifield and Mrs. Vida survive him. The body will be brought to Honolulu and the funeral will probably be held either on Saturday or Sunday.

PETTUS.—In San Francisco, Cal., November 9, 1931, Lydia Schallike-Pettus, formerly of Honolulu, wife of T. A. Pettus and dearly beloved and only daughter of Mrs. F. W. Schallike, a native of San Francisco, aged 27 years, 3 months and 29 days.
